Ronco Machine to be featured on Fox Business Network

Clarks Summit, PA (November 16, 2015) — Clarks Summit engineering firm, Ronco Machine Inc, will be filming a segment for Manufacturing Marvels regarding their expertise on paper converting. Ronco, known for their reliability and efficiency in the manufacturing of machinery to produce paper products, has partnered with Marvel Production Group to bring national attention to the Scranton area. Move over Dunder Mifflin, there is a new paper guru in town!

Marvel Production Group will be on-site November 16, 2015 to film the segment to showcase the 'how it works' behind how some of the most common (and critical) paper products are made such as napkins, paper towels, and toilet paper. Filming will take place at Ronco Machine's Clarks Summit office to be featured on a November 30th segment of Manufacturing Marvels on the Fox Business Network.

Brad Reeves, company president, has 30 years of experience with Ronco Machine and will be coordinating the on-site production with Marvel. Ronco is grateful to have been awarded the opportunity to bring some positive attention to Northeast PA which will show how much industry this area has to offer. "We at Ronco could not be more excited to work with Marvel Production Group and show what the Scranton area really has to offer on a national level"- Brad Reeves.
